COLICOLA GOES TO PRESS

Paper to Carry
Latin Name

Several weeks ago a group of boys under the tutelage of the Educational Adviser, Mr. Harrison, gathered around a table in the Headquarters building to discuss the possibility and formulation of plans for an achievement that would put Co. 3540 and Camp Twelvepole in the limelight. It was decided then and there that the only logical way to acquaint Fifth Corps Area and other CCC camps in this district with the work carried out in this camp was through the medium of a Camp Newspaper. The newspaper would also tend to familiarize the local public with the work of the CCC.

A temporary staff was organized, and plans were in the making for our first issue. Certain unavoidable circumstances have delayed the publication of this first issue over a period of several weeks.

"Top Kick" Rutherford had the honor of offering the name of the newspaper which has appeal and a personality and at the same time symbolizes the true picture of our camp. Rudy's suggestion of COLICOLA,

New Camp Commander
Arrives

Capt. Franklin W. Patten, Inf-Res., of Cincinnati, Ohio arrived in camp Jan. 25, 1936 to relieve Capt. H. I. Arnett, Inf-Res., who has been in command of company 3540 for the past two months. Capt. Arnett will return to his home in Fairmont, W. Va., to continue his practice of dentistry. Capt. Patten was transferred from Camp Decoth.

Captain Arnett Requests
To Be Relieved From Active Duty

Since Captain Arnett assumed command of Camp S-71 we have all noted the improvements which he has made. Our mess has been excellent; our camp has been improved, and our recreation hall has been made nearer what it should have been. His interest in the company has been incomparable and has made him one of the best liked company commanders. At no time has he hesitated to do all for his company. His fairness has never caused any enrollees to feel that he had been unfairly treated. With Capt. Arnett goes our best wishes for repeated success and our

Colonel Waldron
Visits Camp

Colonel Waldron visited Camp S-71 Saturday Jan. 18, 1936. A very hasty inspection was made of the camp, and apparently everything was in order. Considerable dissatisfaction was expressed by the Colonel on account of the fact that the roads were in bad condition due to the unprecedented winter. Every possible measure is being taken to expedite the improvement. A speedway is our goal.

Foresters Hold Farewell
Party for Capt. Arnett

As a parting farewell to Capt. Arnett the Foresters held a party in his honor at their quarters. The guests consisted of the officials of the camp. After the Capt. had proven himself champion checker player, refreshments were served. One of the foresters did the disappearing act and was tracked down by his partner in crime. Hearty wishes for his continued success were offered by all those attending the party. Capt. Arnett will return to Fairmont about February 10, 1936 to continue his practice of dentistry. Are you foresters listen?

CAMP S-71 MAKES PROGRESS.

Within the past few months a new CCC Camp has been hewed out of the hills near Wilsondale, W. Va., which is rapidly becoming one of the most beautiful camps of this type in West Virginia. On the 13th of July, 1935, Capt. Denman and Lt. Paul E. Jones (both from Ohio) with a cadre of 23 boys came from Natural Bridge, Ky., to begin the construction of the new camp. Capt. Denman was recently relieved of his duties as commanding officer of the camp in order to be transferred to the Veterinary branch of the service.

The camp was then placed under the Command of Capt. H. I. Arnett of Fairmont, W. Va., with Lt. Paul Jones and Lt. Edwin Patterson as members of his staff. Their duty is to see that the enrollees are properly fed, clothed, and sheltered. The Army Officers have direct control of the discipline and administrative duties of the camp. Proper medical attention is given each boy by Lt. Folck of Indiana who serves both Camp S-61 and S-71.

D.K. Flynn of Charleston, W. Va. is the camp superintendent who has charge of all work projects. He is capably assisted by a staff of about five foresters.

The boys of Camp S-71 have shown a wonderful spirit, and work is progressing rapidly. A few of the projects that are to be completed this winter are construction of lookout towers, telephone lines, reservoirs, ranger cabins, trails (fire, truck and horse) public camp grounds and fish rearing ponds.

The educational adviser, Frank Harrison of Weston, W. Va., has charge of the educational and recreational program of this camp. The aim of the educational and recreational program is to make an enrollee better qualified to obtain a job in private industry when he has served his time in the CCC and to develop his appreciation for the finer things in life. The program attempts to make a better citizen of each enrollee.

At the present time Capt. H. I. Arnett has been replaced by Capt. Franklin W. Patten of Cincinnati, Ohio. Lt. Jones is no longer with the company, having been relieved from active duty Jan. 15th, 1936.

Spring will find Camp S-71 competing with the best camps in the Fifth Corps Area in every department of CCC work.

Mid-Winter Classes Open

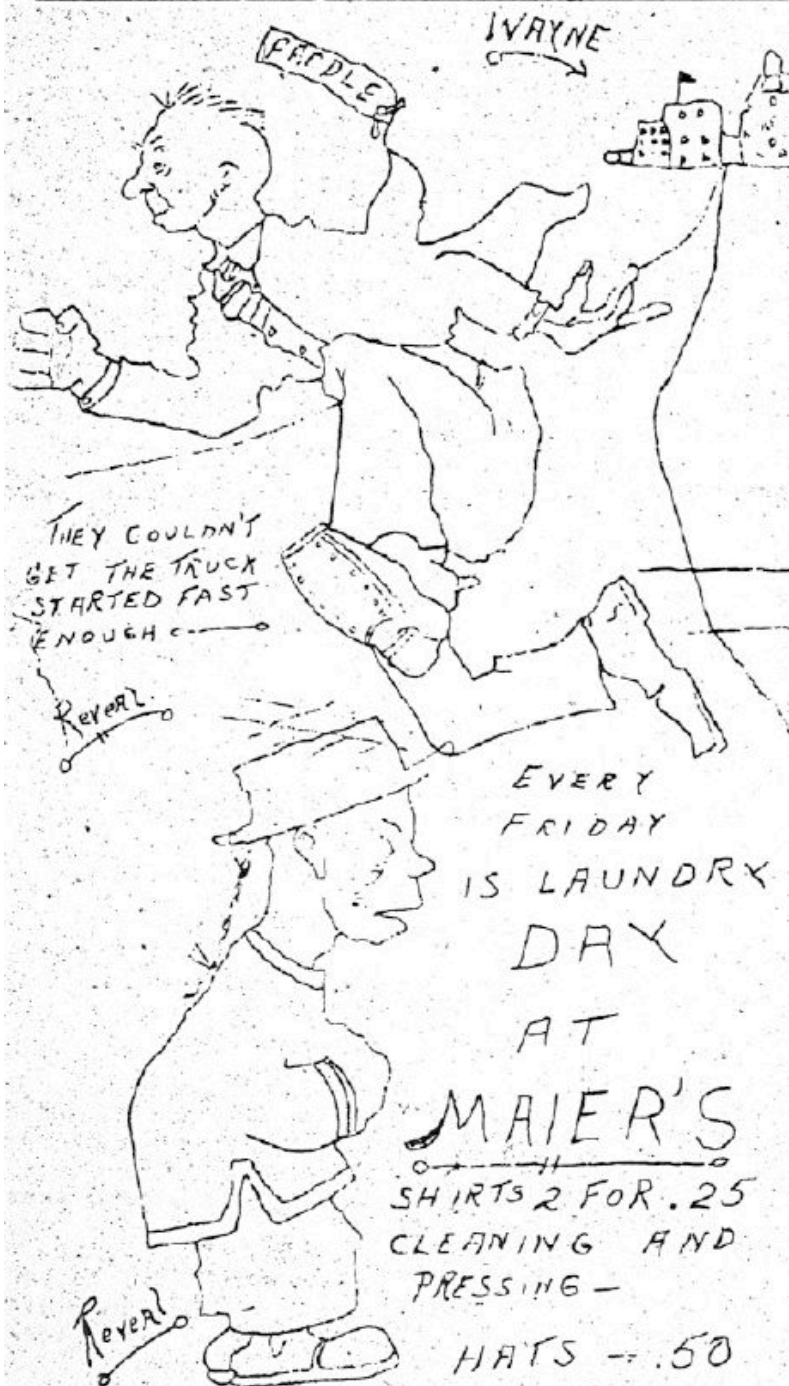

Under direction of the Educational Department enrollment for the mid-winter classes was held the first week of Jan. To date a total of 166 members of Camp S-71 has enrolled in the various classes offered.

The following courses are now being offered with more in the prospect of being added: Civil Service, Letter Writing, Forging, Surveying, Journalism, Advanced First-Aid, Forestry, Business Arithmetic, Algebra, Elementary Reading and Penmanship. Civil Service followed by Forestry and Business Arithmetic have drawn the most interest according to enrollment records. Due to popular demand English and Public Speaking will soon be added. With the exception of Forestry the classes are held in the reading room of the recreational hall. Forestry classes are held each Monday night in the Mess Hall. Mr. Wriston is the popular and capable instructor.

With the classes held in camp a number of enrollees are enrolled in various technical courses by correspondence work through the International Correspondence School.

The aim of the Educational program is to have each enrollee in some class in which he is interested and from which he will receive some practical benefit.
